What every housewife should know...

about SUGAR FOR CANNING

For tasty, nourishing and economical winter desserts, most Canadian housewives will again do some preserving this year... jams, jellies and all kinds of fresh fruits.

Sugar is still very scarce. We must continue to conserve our supplies.

This year, the allowance for home canning will be the same as in 1944—ten pounds per person. Be sure to use your ration sparingly.

HOW TO GET SUGAR FOR CANNING

Instead of special home canning sugar coupons, twenty extra preserves coupons in Ration Book No. 5 are being made available for the purchase of sugar for canning.

These coupons are good for half a pound of sugar each or the stated value in commercial preserves, for they are the same as any of your preserves coupons.

You may use any other valid preserves coupons to purchase sugar, also at half a pound each.

No exchange is necessary. Your grocer will accept any valid preserves coupons when you purchase sugar for canning.

There are now only two kinds of coupons for sugar. The regular sugar coupon, good for one pound of sugar, and the preserves coupon, worth half a pound of sugar.

USE ONLY AS REQUIRED

The twenty extra preserves coupons for sugar for canning will remain valid until declared invalid by the Ration Administration. You do not have to use them immediately. You will be given plenty of notice of their expiry date.

GUARD YOUR RATION BOOK

If you lose your ration book, the extra preserves coupons which have already been declared valid will not be replaced. It is up to each consumer to look after his or her ration book.

Canada's Export Trade

THE PROSPECTS FOR WORLD TRADE in the years following the war are of interest to many nations at the present time. There are some who fear that there may be an immediate return to conditions of unfriendly rivalry and "cut throat" competition such as have existed in the past, and which without doubt were among the causes which led up to the Second World War. There is good reason to hope, however, that recommendations made at the Dumbarton Oaks Conference, and the principles laid down in the Atlantic Charter, will be taken into consideration when international trade relations are again established on a peacetime basis, and that the mistakes of the past will not be repeated. On the success of this undertaking will depend the economic well being of millions of people, and in a large measure, the hope for permanent world peace.

New Markets In The Future

As a result of wartime industrial expansion Canada is now one of the world's greatest producing nations, and as such, has a vital interest in the future of international trade. Obviously there will be a great demand for some time to come in Great Britain and Europe for food and other Canadian products. It is also expected that there will be equally extensive markets for our goods in the Orient and in South America. In order to successfully maintain these markets, however, Canadian economists point out that it will be necessary for us to produce goods which are acceptable on foreign markets. They also warn that if we hope to export on a large scale, we must be prepared to import, especially from those countries whose financial resources have been seriously depleted during the war, and who will be averse to building up large unfavourable trade balances in the future.

Producers Must Work Together

The question of increasing our imports is an large scale immigration and other methods of creating more buying power here. Loss complicated is the problem of producing goods acceptable to those countries who are our customers. In this connection, Dr. G. S. H. Barton, Deputy Minister of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, recently appealed to Canadian farmers to plan their production this year with the needs of Britain in mind, since that country now constitutes a large and important market for Canadian food products. Dr. Barton's appeal for the farmers to take measures to increase livestock production to meet the needs of Britain in this, and succeeding years, is an example of how Canadian producers may work together to keep our export trade at a high level, and thus benefit themselves and the nation as a whole.

Cause Of Shortages

Due To Greater Demand And Decreased Production Of Goods

Last year Canada produced 9,000,000 pairs of children's shoes, as compared with 5,000,000 in 1939, and children's underwear production was 43 per cent. higher than before the war, "and production cannot be further increased at present." These facts were pointed out at a recent meeting of the Toronto Consumer Branch Committee liaison officers in W.P.T.B. offices.

Reason for shortages in these and other commodities, they explained, is increased consumer demand for better things and distribution difficulties. People have more money to buy better shoes for their children, for instance, and busy war-working mothers have less time to make, patch and mend their underwear.

The climate on the Pacific coast has a great effect on the cotton shortage as uniforms "just rot and have to be replaced at a tremendous rate," stated Mrs. Dallamore, speaking of shortages in general.

Looking at the overall picture and taking into consideration Canada's "magnificent war contribution" this country has few shortage problems, she said.

Speaking of the changed attitude of the Canadian people in regard to rationing now compared with early days she said the W.P.T.B. considered this is due largely to the concerted action of its own representatives.

"You women have taught people that it is not smart to go and spend money recklessly, to chisel the extra pound of butter," she said. But rationing almost broke down at one point because of this petty chiselling.

WAS OVER SYMBOLIC

Originally mince pie was symbolic of Christmas. The pie was in the oblong shape to represent the manger, while the pie crust represented the gold, and the spicy ingredients represented the frankincense and myrrh brought by the three wise men.

Each pound of fat on the human body requires about one-half mile of blood vessels.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—Will I be able to obtain ration books for my son's wife and baby who have just recently arrived from England?

A.—If your daughter-in-law will either go to the Local Ration Board, or mail identification papers, such as her passport or her entry permit into Canada, to the Local Ration Board, ration books will be issued to her and the baby.

Q.—I purchased an Easter gift for my little boy. It was a small toy car, a few candles and a chocolate bar, all of which were wrapped in cellophane. I am sure the price charged was out of reason. Are these gift packages not controlled by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board?

A.—Yes, the prices of gift packages made up for special days, such as Halloween, Christmas, Easter, Mother's Day are controlled. The maximum selling price of gift articles thus assembled and sold as one unit must not exceed the total of the retailer's lawful established prices of the various articles assembled including wrapping materials used. No charge can be made for labour or assembling.

Q.—How can I pick out the manufacturer's number in the lining of footwear? My shoes, which I purchased a month ago, appear to be of very poor quality leather and I have been told that in reporting this to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, the manufacturer's number must be given.

A.—After January 1, 1945, all footwear manufactured in Canada will be given a code number. The number will be preceded by the letter "K" and will range from K-100 to K-346 inclusive. Reports on degradation of quality should be made to the Standards Division, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Ottawa.

Q.—Are garden goods controlled by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board?

A.—Yes, there is control of seed prices. Prices of plants, trees, shrubs and other nursery stock is exempt from price control.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book in which you keep track of your ceiling prices, mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

Driving In Fog Could Be Made Safer For Motorists

British automobile manufacturers are experimenting with equipment which will enable automobile drivers to "see" in fog and know whether traffic lights are against them long before they are reached. Sir Miles Thomas, chairman of the industry's public relations committee has been talking about the automobile of the future.

"Safe driving even when it is impossible to see the road is indeed a possibility," he said. "Curb becomes, operating in conjunction with receiving sets on dashboards, will guide drivers in fog." This would mean that motorists would be employing the blind landing technique used to bring planes onto an airfield in the dark.—Brandon Sun.

The British Army

No Finer Troops Ever Battled In A Better Cause

If success is the test, there can be no disputing Sir James Grigg's claim that our army was equipped "as no British army has ever been equipped before." He quoted some observations of Field Marshal Montgomery about the superiority of our tanks over those of the enemy, which will convince everybody except, perhaps one or two critics who are impervious to persuasion however authoritative the evidence against them. When the Field Marshal says that if Rundstedt had been equipped with British tanks on December 16 he would have reached the Meuse in 36 hours, and that if the 21st Army Group had been equipped with German tanks they could not have crossed the Seine when they did, that is much more the argument for all reasonable people. Whether it be in equipment, or in training, or in spirit no finer army ever battled in a better cause than the British Army today.—London Daily Telegraph.

SMILE AWHILE

Customer: "So you've got rid of that pretty assistant you had?"

Druggist: "Yes, all may male customers kept saying that a smile from her was as good as a tonic."

"There's a boy called John Simpson working here. May I see him? I'm his grandfather."

"You've just missed him. He's gone to your funeral."

Little Susie was extremely restless.

"Mother," she said, "I feel nervous."

"Nervous?" exclaimed mother, in mock alarm. "What's nervous?"

"Why it's being in a hurry all over," the child replied.

He: "Why is it that a girl can never catch a ball like a man?"

She: "The man is so much easier to catch."

MacTavish, the salesman, called at the factory manager's office and asked to see the president of the company.

"Have you a card?" asked the secretary.

"Aye, lass, I have that," replied MacTavish, "but I'll na' have it handled."

"You say you want a job in this office? Well, what can you do?"

"Nothing."

"Why didn't you apply sooner? All these high salaries positions were taken long ago."

"Is there anything you fancy to eat before the execution?" asked the warden.

"Yes, mushrooms," said the condemned man. "I've always been scared to try them in case I'd be poisoned."

Judge: "It seems to me I've seen you before."

Prisoner: "You have, your Honor. I gave your daughter singing lessons."

Judge: "Thirty years."

Seventeen mothers in the village mothers' club agreed to decide by ballot which had the handsomest baby.

"Well, who got it?"

"Each baby got one vote."

Caller: "Is the boss in?"

New Office Girl: "Are you a salesman, bill collector or a friend of his?"

Caller: "All three."

New Office Girl: "He's in a business conference. He's out of town. Step in and see him."

A London doctor was prescribing for a small girl.

"My child," he said, "the trouble is with our little tummy. We must diet."

"All right, doctor," the docile child sighed. "What color?"

Pat was engaged putting a water man into the porchhouse. Saturday came and the boss saw Pat dutifully examining his pay packet.

"Mistake in your wages, Pat?" he asked.

"Oh, no," said Pat, "but I was just wondering whether me or the water would be in the porchhouse first."

A TOUCH OF CANADA—

Capt. P. M. Hamill, officer commanding No. 3 Administrative C.W.A.C. Regina, and recently returned from a tour of duty overseas, found a touch of home one day in an A.T.S. Barracks in Wales. On the wall of one of the huts was a map of the Prairie Provinces. It may have been hung there by a girl who hoped to come West some day with her Canadian husband or by one whose British boy friend came to train in Canada. Whatever the reason why it graced the wall by her bunk-side, to Capt. Hamill it was a "piece of Canada"—and a welcome sight to home-hungry eyes.

THE ROAD TO HAPPY RE-ESTABLISHMENT

The first depot rehabilitation wing for servicemen has been opened in Toronto for members of the C.W.A.C. The new wing, aimed at putting them on the "road to happy re-establishment" was organized by Major Phyllis Arnold, Officer Commanding, No. 102 Depot Coy. Whether their future lies in business or professional careers or in home management the girls are giving personal interviews with service counsellors and when they leave referred to one of the civilian rehabilitation centres being set up across Canada by the Department of Veteran Affairs. Lectures are given them on various topics, most popular being mothercraft, household management and budgeting. Explaining the purpose of the rehabilitation wing, Major Arnold declared, "We want them to know that their voluntary services for their country were appreciated and that they have a friend here to ease the way toward happy re-establishment." Carefully chosen staff workers include two Saskatchewan girls, Sgt. Joan Battman, Toronto and Verwood, Sask., and Pte. Margaret Thomson, Borderland, Sask.

Once Carried Tourists

Canadian S.S. "Prince Henry" Now Serving With The Royal Navy
The "Prince Henry", which has been turned over to the Royal Navy for service against the Japanese, was once the flagship of the Canadian National Steamships fleet carrying thousands of tourists along the Pacific Coast to Alaska. Built in Birkenhead, England, she was launched in 1930, christened by Miss Isabel Macdonald, daughter of Ramsay Macdonald, then Prime Minister of Great Britain.

Built at about the same time were her two sister ships, the "Prince David" and the "Prince Robert". They were hailed as "the embodiment of everything that is the latest in ship construction," with luxurious accommodation for 374 first-class passengers. All three went to war and played a prominent part in the invasion of Europe.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

REMEMBER THE DATE

By MARCIA DAUGHTREY
McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Ned Norton felt fine. He was getting home early for a change—it was only fifteen minutes to six. The late afternoon was crisply sunny with spring. Business was good, the office was humming, and he was in love with his wife—a neat number named Blaire.

In addition to all that, he had sort of a minor romance. Not exactly a romance, either, because there was nothing serious on either his or the distasteful side. Still, there was something intensely pleasant about getting into the elevator at noon without knowing whether Miss Hathaway was the person who had rung the down button on the fifth floor. Some times it was; sometimes it wasn't.

But when it was she who stepped on the elevator, Ned unconsciously squared his shoulders while an inner tocsin began to ring. Nothing to it, really, he tried to tell himself—ignoring the warning.

Certainly, she had superb auburn hair; of course he liked to have the boys at the office chuckle afterward. You certainly did sit opposite a nice dish since Ned's old pal, How about giving a bachelor a break and taking me along some day?

He could almost hear his ego purr. "Just an old friend of the family," he'd say, grinning. And back into the recesses of his mind marked "oblivion" he would tuck a haunting memory of the way he had felt when a tendril of her perfume had floated past his nostrils; also of the way she sometimes looked up at him nowadays. It was all quite innocent, really.

So Ned Norton felt fine as he slammed the gate and scraped his feet dutifully before entering the service porch, not because his shoes were soiled but because this was another of the small-boy habits he had brought intact from a domineering childhood. Perhaps Miss Hathaway was his life's only rebellion against maternal and wifely authority. A rather fragile rebellion at that, he thought.

"Hi, beautiful," he called when the closed kitchen door brought no treble shout of greeting. He waited then sang out, "Come out, come out wherever you are."

Still no answer. That was odd. Blaire never planned to be away in the afternoon without telling him in minute detail where she was going and how long she would be gone.

Wandering into the living room, Ned found a chair on top of the lounge, and a vase topping the chair. In the vase was a note. That was Blaire for you: leave a note, and leave it with so much emphasis that no one on earth could miss it.

Ned was laughing silently as he unfolded the page and glanced at the ornate backhand: "Darling: I love you with all my heart, but some times I wonder how you feel about me. I'm going away a little while to find out. Blaire."

Ned turned the note over and studied the blank opposite side as if he had come across an anagram whose answer would be found on the reverse. Then he returned to the script and read it again. Yes, it was exactly the same as it had been on first perusal.

This was fantastic. It was unbelievable. Blaire—leaving him. What for?

They had had their arguments of course—who didn't? The overdrawn household account month before last, for instance. He had been rather caustic about it, he remembered. "Either you live within the budget, or I'll handle all the finances," he had threatened.

Blaire had pouted for a day, then had fun saving back the overdraw by feeding him fantastically cheap meals for a week. Good, though. Warm-hearted and sentimental; prankish and full of laughter—that was Blaire.

Abruptly, Ned sat down in the nearest chair as perspiration broke out on his forehead. Someone had seen him taking Miss Hathaway to lunch on four times last week. Someone had been dog enough to tell Blaire. And Blaire, hot-head that she was, had walked out on him without even a request for explanation!

Now that he thought of it, the thing was obvious. He had to explain. How could a man say, April is already in my blood. I'm a victim of spring. No, that wouldn't do. Silently, he began cursing himself as a fool. Well, he'd have to do something.

Dialing savagely, he called the station to check on northbound trains. Then he called the airport on the chance that Blaire had taken it big. He hung up in the middle of a series of frantic questions when he heard a suppressed chortle behind him. "Did I scare you?" giggled Blaire.

With one powerful gesture Ned gathered her into his arms and kissed her as he hadn't since honeymoon days. "What . . . in the world . . ." he murmured between kisses.

"April Fool! April Fool! Oh, Ned, if you could have seen your face! You looked as guilty as Jack the Ripper."

For an instant Ned was angry from his damp forehead to his chilly feet. He had an urge to turn her over his knee and give her a royal spanking. Yet—if it hadn't been for his preoccupation with Miss Hathaway, he would have seen through Blaire's April First stunt instantly. Maybe this was simply one of life's stop lights.

"The next time you pull a stunt like that," he said severely, "I'm going to tan your trousers. But tonight I'll take you out to dinner—and that's no April fool joke."

Will Take Years

Reconstruction Work In Liberated Europe Is Tremendous Task

It is estimated that it will take two years to rebuild the Ludendorff bridge at Remagen, over which the Allied forces in the west made their first crossing of the Rhine but which has since been wrecked as a result of enemy action. The estimate of two years to rebuild this one bridge gives some idea of the tremendous task of reconstruction which awaits Europe. In the liberated lands there is a vast deal of work to be done. This is perhaps especially true in war-torn Poland, Russia, Belgium and Holland.

SPRING TONIC FOR WINTER

Has spring fever hit your household? If so, appetites are apt to be finicky. For that we prescribe a change. A change of scenery in your menus!

Your family is accustomed to finding their bread and cereal in a bowl. Surprise them some morning soon and serve that cereal in muffin form. Those same crisp all-wheat flakes which taste so good with milk make a grand basis for a flaky muffin. They can be stirred up in a jiffy and baked in twenty short minutes.

Wheat Muffins
2 tablespoons shortening
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg
1 cup all-wheat flakes
¾ cup milk
1 cup sifted flour
1½ teaspoon salt
2½ teaspoons baking powder
Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat well. Stir in slightly crumbled all-wheat flakes and milk. Sift flour, salt and baking powder together; add to first mixture and stir until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full; bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 20 minutes. Yield Eight 2½-inch muffins.

A Letter of Appreciation to the many friends of Wrigley's Spearmint, Doublemint and "Juicy Fruit" Chewing Gum

WRIGLEY'S
CHEWING GUM MANUFACTURERS

We want to thank all the people here at home for the fine spirit of understanding shown us since we told you that, for as long as possible, all the very best gum we could make would go only to our Armed Forces overseas and at sea.

With this in mind, and so that there can be no misunderstanding, we want you to know that we have now used up all our pre-war ingredients and have now stopped making the well known trademarked brands of Wrigley's Spearmint, Doublemint and "Juicy Fruit" even for the Armed Forces overseas.

There will be no more chewing gum of these three famous brands and flavors for anyone until we can again make gum worthy of these three trade-marked labels, which have always been your guarantee of uniform, finest quality and flavor.

Until we can bring back Wrigley standard brands we are making a plain but honest wartime chewing gum to help take care of both military and civilian needs. We are offering this gum to the public only on its own merit and for that reason it is not associated with any Wrigley standard brand but has its own brand name and flavors.

A Significant Name

Japanese Empire Founded In Yamato Province In 660 B.C.

The name Yamato has a deep, almost religious significance for the Japanese, the Associated Press recalls in connection with the sinking of the battleship Yamato.

Japanese battleships are named for the provinces of old Japan. These names do not appear on most maps since the old provinces have given way to prefectures.

Yamato was on the peninsula just south of Osaka. It was there, according to legend, that the first Emperor, Jimmu, founded the Japanese empire in 660 B.C. From Yamato the ancestors of the modern Japanese apparently spread out to conquer the other islands.

Yamato therefore is the ancient name for Japan itself. The Japanese call themselves the Yamato race, and impute to the name all the martial virtues they believe themselves to possess.

The Yamato was 900 feet long, of 45,000 tons, carried 16-inch guns and was capable of a speed of thirty knots. Roughly equivalent to the American 45,000-ton Iowa, both in size and characteristics.

There had been two ships of that size in the Japanese Navy. Her sister ship, the Musashi, was sunk in the Second Battle of the Philippines Sea last October.

GARDEN NOTES

Flowers Have A Place

Home-grown flowers cannot be considered as a luxury. The real gardener will find a place for them. To him the growing of beautiful flowers is more than just a hobby or recreation. It satisfies his natural craving to create something with his own hands and out of his own brain—it provides a tonic for war-strung nerves. The actual cost in dollars and cents is negligible. A few packets of seed at a total cost of a quarter will provide a wealth of bloom, will turn some drab, neglected corner into a riot of color and beauty, will help us forget the fact that long week-end motoring or distant holiday trips are out until the Nazis have been put in their place.

Hardy Ones First

The first vegetables and flowers that are planted are those which succumb to term hardy. These will stand a little frost. Some indeed will stand quite a lot and even a heavy snowfall or a week's return of winter after planting will not hurt them. Both garden and sweet peas are in this category. Both of them will stand the first growth while the weather is cool and moist, otherwise they won't develop a sufficient root system to carry them through the hot weather. Grass is in the same class. One can hardly get the lawn or the annual patching of established lawns done too early, though of course it is most important that the soil is thoroughly prepared and the ground level before the seed is sown. This last caution naturally applies to new lawns more than patching.

Other early vegetables that will stand some rough weather are spinach, radish and lettuce. Among the flowers are cosmos, marigolds—there are several types—poppies, alyssum, any of the perennials, nursery stock, etc.

For Early Corners

Usually there is one corner of the garden which dries up first in the spring and here, if one wants to make the earliest start possible, is where first vegetables or flowers should be planted. But it is most important, so say those who are garden experts, that the soil be really fit to work. If it is the least muddy then it isn't ready and there is nothing to be gained, and much injury may result if digging or plowing is done too soon. Heavy soils, especially, if cultivated while still wet will bake into hard lumps and it may take weeks or even months of hard, back-breaking digging to break them up fine again.

MACHINE IS CHEAPER

A newly invented British pipe-cleaning machine was recently used to scrape a 26 mile strip of water main. This work normally took 65 men 12 days, at a cost of 20 cents a yard. The machine accomplished the whole in 18 hours (spread over at an approximate cost of two cents a yard).

Sydney and Melbourne hold about one-third of the population of Australia.

This Week's Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

So young the pinafore ruffles, so slim the "V" waist, Pattern 4569 will be your special pet. Wear it now at home, later as an outdoor frock. Has a sleeveless version, too.

Pattern 4569 comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20; 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16, 3½ yards 55-inch material. Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this pattern. Write plainly Size, Name, Address and Style Number and send orders to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man. "Because of the slowness of the mails delivery of our patterns may take a few days longer than usual."

Envelopes did not come into common use in the United States until 1840; 15 years later practically all letters were enclosed.

WEDDING

PEARY-DAVIS

Knox United Church, Calgary, was the scene of a very pretty Wedding on Saturday, April 7th when Margaret Alice, only daughter of Mrs. Alice Davis and the late Mr. W. H. Davis of Chinook, Alberta, became the bride of Mr. Michael Peary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Peary of Fort William, Ontario. Rev. W. H. Husband officiated.

The bride who was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Chris. Davis wore a white floor-length satin gown trimmed with ecru lace. She wore a veil held in place with six roses of tating and rose buds. She carried a bouquet of red roses and carnations. Her ornaments were a gold locket a gift from the groom and a gold bracelet a gift from her mother.

Mrs. Helen Jones was maid of honor and Mr. Jones was best man. Miss Bertha Schaffer was flower girl dressed in pale green satin and carried yellow daisies.

A reception was held at the Palliser Hotel, Calgary, for twenty guests. The bride's mother received the guests and wore a purple crepe gown.

The many Chinook friends wish for Mr. and Mrs. Peary a very happy married life.

Mrs. Alice Davice of Calgary is spending a week with her son Edward.

We still have cold, windy winter weather and a considerable amount of snow which the farmers welcome for moisture.

Mr. J. E. Cooley who has been a Calgary business visitor for the past week, returned Thursday.

The McLeod Bros. who bought the two ranches owned by Mr. Geo. Seeger and Mr. Robt. Younggren, moved to Chinook last week.

Miss B. Kuriz has returned to the Healdale district and will cook for Mr. Ethan Haggy.

Your Victory Loan Salesman
Will Call on You Soon . . .
Give Him a Friendly Welcome

Everybody knows what a comforting thing it is to have money where you can get it when you need it. So, in most homes, the Victory Loan salesman gets a cordial welcome. He offers an opportunity to you to help your country's war effort by just saving your money. In case of emergency you can get cash for your bonds at any bank . . . but you know that when you put savings into Victory Bonds they will likely stay there, intact . . . drawing good interest. Your savings are protected from your own temptation to use them. Buy all the Victory Bonds you can, with all the cash you have.

Buy More Victory Bonds on the Deferred Payment Plan
With Money as You Get It!

And, to give yourself an objective to add to your savings, obligate yourself to buy more Victory Bonds on the deferred payment plan. Make a first payment of 10% or more when you order the bonds . . . and pay the balance with money as you get it, over a period of six months. Your Victory Loan salesman will give you a copy of the letter on the right. It is a request to your bank to buy bonds for you. Any bank will lend you the money to do this and the interest the bonds earn pays the interest on the bank loan.
